REDUCTION OF MATTER IN THE MYSORE GAZETTE.

GEN. & REV. SECRETARIAT
VIII
E. AUDIT.
13 AUG 1920
D.No 201

From a careful examination of the matter now appearing in the Mysore Gazette, it is seen that there is considerable scope for effecting economy in printing and in the use of paper, by excluding from it several standing notifications of a routine nature and other matters of no importance which need not be published in the Gazette. Such items as can very well be omitted are noted below and are also marked with a blue pencil in the accompanying issue of the Gazette dated 24th June 1920. The list is more illustrative than exhaustive as it is based upon a single issue of the Gazette. It, however, gives an idea as to how far reduction can be effected in the size of the Gazette by avoiding wasteful methods of publishing unimportant matters in it.

Items that need not be repeated in every issue of the Gazette.

(1) The notice of the Office of the Compiler Mysore Gazette appearing in the first page of every issue of the Gazette.

(2) The first para of part I Section I re: official notifications issued in the Gazette.

(3) The last three paras under General Part I Section I re: interviews with the Dewan and the petition box.

It would be sufficient if the publication of the above notifications is limit to the first issue of the Gazette every month and omitted in the subsequent issues. The reduction that may thus be effected is 1½ pages.

Part I - A.

Notifications relating to Local Self-Government.

(1) The proceedings of the Municipal and Local Boards published in the Gazette contain a long list of members that attended the meeting and also of those that were absent (vide page 255) extending over a page and a half. This practice of publishing the names may be discontinued, only the number of members present and absent being given instead.

(2) The Proceedings also contain (vide page 258) a long list of communications read and recorded at this meeting. This may very well be omitted.

The reduction possible from items (1) and (2) above is nearly 2 pages.

(3) The Notification published in page 263 illustrates the wasteful ~~exem~~ method of employing a statement occupying unnecessary space where it can be very easily avoided.

Part II.

(4) ~~Notifications~~ Government orders republished in the Gazette contain at the end a long list of addresses, which serves no useful purpose. This should be omitted.

Part IV.

(5) Under Chief Court Rule of Practice No.86 dated 12th April 1926, lists of records marked out for destruction (vide pages 572,573 and 574) are notified in the Gazette. This practice may be discontinued. It is also unnecessary to publish the names of the Honorary - Magistrates constituting the bench for the half year (vide page 574), as such notifications are only of local importance and can be published in the area concerned by other means.

I think these are necessary.

(6) ~~Notifications publishing under~~ Proclamations under regarding Section 523 of Cr. P.C. the particulars of articles produced by the Police and treated by the Court as unclaimed need not appear in the Gazette, as it is a wasteful procedure.

(7) ~~Particulars~~ Notices of documents lying unclaimed for more than 2 years in the Registry and Sub-Registry offices (pag 576 to 579) may be omitted, as they are not required to be published in the Gazett

(8) Notifications re: sale of land property in satisfaction of arrears of land revenue.

This is a standard form. Instead of printing individual notifications separately which involves the printing the ~~same matter~~ Common preliminary matter several times, a consolidated statement ~~for each District~~ may alone be published, thus avoiding a good deal of wasteful printing.

(9) Notifications setting forth th conditions of grant of scholarships confined to particular localities.

This need not appear in the Gazette.

Land Revenue sales may be cancelled ?

A consolidated statement for each district is also found is possible - even here there may be difficulty as different properties are brought to sale at different times after several processes

(10) Publishing in extenso the proceedings of meetings of Committees with the names of members present and absent, communications read and recorded and the list of subjects reserved for future consideration.

I agree

This is really a wasteful practice. It would be sufficient if a brief report of the proceedings so far as it relates to the actual work done at the meeting is published in the Gazette for general information.

(11) ~~S~~ statements of Daily observations of the Meteorological Department.

It is not necessary to publish this in the Gazette.

(12) Notification re: Departmental purchases, calling for tenders etc.

It would be sufficient if an abstract of the notifications is published in the Gazette, full particulars being printed separately and sufficient copies thereof supplied to the Department concerned.

By adopting the above suggestions it is ~~this~~ possible to reduce the present size of the Gazette by nearly one-third, and what is of greater importance, the Gazette can be made ~~to Contain~~ more readable. At present, in the case of ~~about~~ ~~many~~ many items of information contained in it, some three fourths of the readers are uninterested.

New Sects,

Items (1) (2) and (3) will have to be noted by Municipal Branch and item (7) by the Separate Revenue Branch of the Sects. As regards item (8) which concerns the Revenue Branch, it is said that it is seen that each note has been sent separately to the press by the different Dy Comrs concerned and repetition of Standard clauses was therefore inevitable. In case the suggestion to publish a consolidated statement is to be adopted the several Dy Comrs concerned will have to be asked to transmit their respective Notifications to the Revenue Comr who may be requested to prepare a consolidated statement and send it on to the Press. This may however cause ~~Sulit~~ delay and extra work on the Revenue Commrs Office 18.8.20.

The curtailment of these notifications is a desirable reform. The difficulty raised above can be got over by simply stating in the notification the details as to area, value, locality etc. of the land, the reader being referred to the Land Revenue Rules for the conditions of sale in which, of course, there is no variation. This is simpler & speedier method than to prepare "combined statements" for each District which the Rev. Comr. may also be consulted unofficially. [Orders, nos. 1.1.3 & 7 cover the dealt with in Br. Under the rules for purchases & stores, full publicity to the notices calling for tenders is required to be given: Abstracts may not convey the purport intended. Moreover the arrangement proposed may involve waste otherwise in having an unnecessarily large number of spare copies being printed and stocked in the depots. The present arrangement may, it seems continue. Only as regards very large purchases that such notices are issued.
